

ABSTRACT

An aqueous solution preparation containing camptothecins which does not require heating in its production, and wherein camptothecins have been solubilized in a stable manner is provided.

The aqueous solution preparation containing camptothecins contains acetic acid and sodium acetate, and it has a pH of 2 to 5.